FOREWORD

TO THE DREAMER—scorn him not—is due the credit for much of the world's progress. It is the visionary who has kept alight the torch of civilization through the ages. It is the visionary who has carved out world-empires, yes, and new worlds. It is he who has conquered the air and the sea; has made space as nothing; has caught the elements and bent them to the will of man.

Youth and dreams walk hand in hand. In youth, all lies before and naught behind. However, after the passing of the years, when life's glamour has been dimmed, when the ambitions of youth have given place to resignation, then are dreams most wont to cease to exist in the mind of men.

A wave of wistfulness and bitterness sweeps over them, and despair lays hold of their hearts. Then is the inspirational influence of dreams most needed.

If, in at least one instance during that period of disillusionment which comes with age, this Annual can serve to recall the dreams of yesterday, and the ambitions of youth, if it can be the means of lifting one soul from the depths of despair to the pedestal of success, the staff of 1926 will feel that this, the book which they have prepared, will have justified its publication, and will have repaid a hundredfold the efforts of those who have labored in its compilation.

May the Annual of 1926 be a book of inspiration, coupled with pleasant memories.

DEDICATION

TO MRS. ANNIE FERGUSON who, through her fourteen years of efficient service as an instructor of English in the Rock Island High School, has found an everlasting place in the hearts of her students and fellow faculty members, and whose friendly smile and kind words have helped to make our school years a little more pleasant, and under whose influence our ambition has become a little greater, we, the Staff of 1926, affectionately dedicate this Watch
Tower Annual

Farewell to Miss Sturgeon

THERE is consolation in the portrait of a loved one who is far away; we like to muse and dream over his likeness. Still, the portrait is, after all, only a portrait, and the expression on the face, for the most part, is a lifeless expression. How much better it is, therefore, to have a record of good deeds, not in a frame, but etched into the lives of real people and into the spirit of a whole school.

Such is the impression that one among us has created during her sixteen years of service in the Rock Island High School. Miss Sturgeon has formed this impression through her work as Head of the English Department, as adviser of the senior classes, as supervisor of the Bi-weekly, and as sponsor of the Junior English Council. Every student who has come under her influence, has felt the effect of her assiduity and unfading dignity.

Now, Miss Sturgeon, as you go to surrier lands, may your past successes stretch out into the future, and may the appreciation and good-will of Rock Island High School be ever a reminder of your worth. We shall not say "Farewell," but "Au Revoir."

Farewell to Miss Alice Rush

FOR THE LAST TIME the name of Miss Alice Rush is to be included among the faculty of Rock Island High School. After thirty-three years of loyal service, she has retired for a much-deserved vacation from the duties of school teaching.

Her years in this school have been fruitful ones. Every student who has come under her kindly instruction has found himself better equipped for life, for Miss Rush has taught us how to live. Those who have been in her classes carry in their minds her oft-repeated statement that school is not preparatory to life, but is life itself—a life in which we form those habits which to a great extent determine our future destination.

And best of all, she has given us an ideal in herself; her teaching has been exemplified by her life of service. There is not one of us who will not remember the kindly patient woman whose eyes could flash and urge to do, as well as twinkle with humor. She has been a true school mother, and, in going, will leave an undeniably empty place among us. Admiration, respect, and love have all been kindled in our hearts by her efficient guidance and sympathetic understanding. Retired and sweetly gentle, she has dwelt among us not as one apart, but as an indispensable element in our school life. She is, as the poet has so well said:

“A perfect woman, nobly planned
To warn, to comfort, and command.”

Therefore, it is with deepest regret that the school bids farewell to Miss Rush, and wishes her all happiness and rest in this so richly deserved retirement.

ADDRESS OF WELCOME

GRACE CHAPMAN

Parents, faculty, friends, and fellow-students: it is my pleasure, on behalf of the graduating class of 1926, to welcome you to our Class Day exercises. A sense of gratitude is mingled with our welcome to you, because in one way or another you have made possible this day, this culmination of twelve years' endeavor.

You, parents, by your interest, encouragement, and often sacrifices, have impressed upon our minds the necessity of realizing this privilege of preparatory education. Our feeling of gratefulness for your effort in our behalf and the depth of our welcome to you we cannot adequately express.

In our four years in this school, we have come to regard you, our teachers, not only as instructors, but as friends in the truest sense. You took us as freshmen, knowing little of Latin, algebra, or chemistry, and patiently labored with us, who were often indifferent and unresponsive, until today, as seniors, we face our graduation largely through your efforts. We are also grateful to you, Mr. Youngert, for your leadership through the difficulties and problems which have confronted us during our years in High School. We welcome you, members of the Faculty, most gladly.

You, our friends, outside the circle of the school, have made this day possible by providing for the establishment and continuance of this school, which we love so dearly. To you, Mr. Bardwell and members of the School Board, who are the active agents of the friends of the school, we are also indebted for the high caliber of our teachers and the careful supervision in keeping our school up to the high standard. Our gratitude to you is indeed heartfelt and our welcome most sincere.

Schoolmates, we feel that in leaving our school we leave behind also, among you, many of our best friends. The good times we have had together live only in our memories now, but they shall not be easily forgotten. With you remains the task of keeping the scholarship of our school ever high and making its name shine even brighter by your achievements.

Again, in behalf of this class of 1926, I bid you all a most hearty welcome.

CLASS HISTORY

ISRAEL BOXERMAN

A professor at Yale once remarked that the early history of any nation is entirely without any real achievements, because the success of a nation comes only after a gradual growth. In most cases, it is many years before the accomplishments of a nation are great. This, however, was in no respect true of the class of '26, for, from the time of our very first appearance in Rock Island High School, in the fall of 1922, we burst forth into scintillating glory. We immediately took our rightful place in school affairs and our attainments were many.

The first thing necessary for the proper organization of our class was the election of class officers. Delmar Woodward was elected president. Delmar, however, was pierced by a dart shot by Dan Cupad, quit school, married, and settled down to a peaceful matrimonial life. Norman Dorman was chosen vice president. Carol Gregg, since she possessed a great knowledge of the Gregg Shorthand Course, gained the position of secretary. "Kike" Wilhelm, because he had much larger pockets than the rest of us, was chosen custodian of the pocket-book.

The first important event of our high school career was the Freshman Reception on September 29, at which time sophisticated seniors mingled with us "green freshmen" in the justly famous Manual Arts Ballroom, while later in the year, the Freshman-Sophomore party was another event long to be remembered.

It was in our Freshman year, also, that we formed a large and flourishing Freshman Division of the Junior English Council. An incident which conclusively proved the forensic ability of the members of our class was the Declamation contest sponsored by the Freshman Division of the Junior English Council. On account of the great ability manifested in this contest by one of our fellow students, namely, Louis Greenblatt, his name will go down in the history of the school as one of the finest forensic products ever put out by Rock Island High School. In this contest, Louis delivered a gruesome, awe-inspiring, blood curdling declamatory selection, "The Murderer's Confession," with such great venomence and such great effect, that Mrs. Eastman, one of the judges, declared, that in her opinion, boys of Louis's age (he was only thirteen, and quite a wee boy) should not have their young minds poisoned with such horrible tales. In spite of all his passionate rendition, however, the decision was given to Jane Sperry.

There was one among us who was later destined to captivate the heart of a certain fair lady, and who, even at this early period, was demonstrating his ability to gain the admiration of the fairer sex—Edwin Lietke, our dashing football captain. He was then a rosy-cheeked little boy and so polite that all the teachers just loved the little darling.

Our histrionic talent was very marked, even in our Freshman year. The cast of "Mrs. Oakley's Telephone" and "Three Pills in a Bottle" included many Freshmen.

In addition to these accomplishments, our class demonstrated one fact that even as Freshmen we were endowed with extraordinary intelligence, for there were ten members of our class on the Academic Honor Roll.

During our Freshman year, we had beyond doubt established ourselves as intellectual giants, to the extent that it was said of more famous ones, "As I still the weaker grew, that one small head could carry three grew." In our Sophomore year we carried this reputation on, by placing Louis Greenblatt on the Declamation team, Harry Kulp on the Extemporaneous speaking team, while John Krier was chosen assistant debating manager of the Watch Tower. At the beginning of our Sophomore year, however, we also began to show ourselves to be physically as well as mentally strong, with the result that our class began to be a force in all athletic activities. Lietke, Radman, O'Herr, and Ash shone on the football field, Criswell on the basketball floor, and Scott and Ellis on track during the season, though at the time all were mere sophomores.

It was during our Sophomore year, too, that the school as a whole realized that the Sophomore Class possessed a member whose voice was guaranteed to instill the necessary pep and spirit into either gasping athletes or drooping rooters. They naturally, then, proceeded to improve Rock Island's chances for victory by electing Lucille Biond yell leader, a position which she has held ever since.

It was at the beginning of this year that one of our members received his first big thrill in the form of his first pair of long trousers. To such an extent did this addition to his wardrobe please the young man that we elected Norman Doman our president. We did not succeed very well, however, in retaining our Sophomore officers, for Norman fell behind by taking a plunge into the rubler business. Bert Nolan, our vice-president, plunged into the swamps of Florida to make his fortune and Frank Koester, our secretary, also test the lure of earning his own money.

At the beginning of our Junior year, therefore, we determined to choose officers so interested in scholastic pursuits that nothing could induce them to leave school. We chose, then, Alex Scott as president, Walter Criswell as vice-president, and Pearl Gates as secretary.

With such well known athletes heading our class, we were bound to go a long way as Juniors toward complete supremacy in athletics. Juniors were captains of all teams last year, our above mentioned officers heading the track and basketball teams respectively, and relying for team support on many of their own classmates.

Among the class of '26 were many able declaimers, debaters, and extemporaneous speakers. Mildred Nelson and Marie Hastings served on the Girls' Declamation team, and Louis Greenblatt and Sidney Zimel on the Boys' Declamation team. Israel Boxerman, Harry Gersick, Sidney Zimel, and Dorothy Lavesey upheld the school in debate. Israel Boxerman, Morris Colehour, Harry Kuip, and Sidney Zimel participated in extemporaneous speaking activities.

On the Watch Tower Annual Staff there were five juniors. Elizabeth Trenham, Pearl Gates, Mildred Nelson, Frances Carter, and Israel Boxerman; while the Watch Tower management included John Kaier and Ruth Olsson.

The officers of the Ciceronian, French Club, and Boys' Hi-Y were members of our class.

In the field of dramatics, also, there were to be found many of our number. All the members of the cast of "Miss Civilization," except one, were Juniors. The Junior Class Play, in which Robert Sigler and Mildred Nelson took the leading roles, was the most successful Junior Class Play ever staged. In the cast of "Only 38" juniors were much in evidence.

Social events also occupied a portion of our time during the Junior year. At the Junior party the clown band, led by Ruth Paridon, a most excellent clown, made a "big hit."

In the main show of the Frolic, Louis Greenblatt imitated a southern "darky" to perfection.

At the Junior spring party a Balloon dance was engaged in, and at the Junior-Senior Reception, the Manual Arts Ballroom was converted into a huge Japanese garden. Japanese surroundings, Japanese costumes, and even the fragrance of Oriental incense produced a very realistic effect.

Alex Scott had proved during the Junior year that the lure of gold could not divorce him from his beloved school, so, as Seniors, we decided to once again elect him president. Marian Lillian Starnes was chosen vice-president and Marian Gitt got "the office" of secretary. Our senior year has marked the last lap in our high school careers and has been, naturally, the year of our greatest achievements.

The presidencies of the most important organizations were intrusted to seniors. Israel Boxerman headed the Ciceronian Debating Society, John Krier led the Dramatic Club, and Frances Carter had the leadership of the Junior English Council. The presidents of the Girls' Hi-Y, the French Club, the Boys' Hi-Y, and the Poetry Department were given to Elizabeth Tremann, Loretta Quinn, Carl Bhesner, and Gwendolen Brandt respectively.

Seniors formed the backbone of the various athletic teams. Edwin Liedtke was captain of the football team, "Kike" Wilhelm of the basketball team, and Morris Colehour of the cross-country squad.

Never was our forensic ability so clearly demonstrated as during our Senior year. Michael Nelson, Rock Island's representative in the Big Nine Girls' Declamation Contest took third place. The Boys' Declamation Team included Sidney Zamel, Harry Gersick, and Louis Greenblatt. The debate team was composed of Israel Boxerman, Harry Gersick, Lois Briggs, Dorothy Livezey, and Sidney Zamel, all seniors. The extemporaneous speaking team included Israel Boxerman, Cecil Wainets, Harold Brady, and Sidney Zamel. Israel Boxerman, a senior student, walked away with first place in the Big Nine Extemporaneous Contest held at Moline. This was the first time in the history of the school that a Rock Island representative had taken first.

Nor were we lacking in purely intellectual attainments. The Semester Honor Roll numbered twelve Seniors. Thirty-seven Seniors were placed on the Senior Honor Roll with an average of 88 or more.

Dramatic achievements also were great. The Dramatic Club play, "The Big Idea," with the majority of the cast Seniors played to a capacity house.

There is among us one who was a very weighty member of the class of '26, Gordon Davis. Throughtout his high school career, Gordon had secretly cherished ambitions of obtaining the leading role in the Senior Class Play. However, Gordon felt that his weight retarded the fulfillment of his dreams, since he tipped the scales at fully 200 pounds. Gordon thereupon decided that the only way to achieve this dream was to diminish the proportions of his body, and lose the girdle of fat which he possessed. Gordon had read that a lamb chop and pineapple diet was not only a safe way to reduce, but also was the food which gave great actors their ability. After going on a strict lamb chop and pineapple diet and chewing five packages of Silph reducing gum per day, Gordon made away with 65 pounds, and came back to school last fall a rejuvenated young man with a weight of only 135 pounds. The strenuous effort of Gordon was well rewarded, for he received the leading role in the Senior class play, "Merton of the Movies." Our play in which Gordon had the leading role, supported, however, by other excellent Senior talent, scored a great triumph.

After four years of the greatest achievements and glory, the career of the class of 1926 draws to a close. It is with deepest regret that we think of leaving Rock Island High School, but our sorrow is somewhat tempered by the knowledge that the attainments of our class are carved in large letters in the annals of Rock Island High School.

Our joy at the success of our play was still animating us when we were thrown into a further state of excitement by the crowning social event of the year, the Junior-Senior Reception. It is too fresh in the minds of you Seniors to need any reviewing by me, but I might say for the benefit of those in the audience who were not present that it was the very best Junior-Senior Reception ever held.

And just as this Junior-Senior Reception was the best ever held, so were these past four years the very best we shall ever experience. They were four years crowned with plenty of fun and much achievement. They were four free years—years which in spite of ourselves have come to an end. We know, however, that this is not the end, but the beginning of our history. Let us hope that our future history will be for each of us as worth while as these past four years have been.

CLASS PROPHECY

MILDRED NELSON

It gives me the greatest pleasure to be here this afternoon to enlighten you as to what the future holds for these graduates. It is of the utmost importance that you know these facts not only that your curiosity might be satisfied and your mind relieved of a great problem, but also that you may be guided by this knowledge and have a firm foundation for the handling of your future. Some years ago I had the privilege of predicting the future of your principal, Mr. Youngert, and from his career you can determine for yourselves the success you will obtain by following the advice of the stars.

I wonder how many of you realize that at the moment of your birth your future is written in the sky. The science which explains all these predictions is Astrology. Astrology is an ancient science and has been practiced throughout the ages. It concerns the effects of the sun, moon, and stars on the earth and its inhabitants. To predict a future one must cast a horoscope; that is, find the position of the heavenly bodies at the moment of the person's birth. In order to cast a horoscope one must know the time, date, and place of birth. The actual time is very important, as a difference of only a few minutes may change the occupation of a man from President of the United States to a boilermaker. The places and dates of births of students from the class of 1926 were called to me months ago, and I have worked intensively on them in my laboratories in India. I found the horoscopes very interesting, and I shall present my results without further delay, giving you the occupation in which each will be engaged in 1941.

The year 1907 was very unresponsive, for I found few lives about which my investigations among the stars would give me accurate information. Aries, the sign of the Ram, falls in the month of October. The creative among the Aries-born win laurels in art, in literature, and upon the screen and stage. Ruth Paridon, born October 9 in Rock Island under this sign, will be excelled only by the famous dancer Pavlova. Being born October 18 under the same sign, Edwin Liedtke will transform the energy acquired on the football field into the skill necessary to be Ruth's dancing partner.

The July sign, Taurus, marks its people with success, admiration, victory at any cost. Under this sign were born Alden Stanford, Paul Nelson, and William Mann. Senator Stanford will be father of the twenty-first amendment providing for the popular election of the President of the United States. The first recipient of the office under this new law will be Paul Nelson, unanimously elected. He will appoint William Mann as his secretary.

Scorpio, the majestic sign of November, has its sway over Carl Blesner. The sign indicates a purposeful career, and we will find Carl the founder of five and ten cent stores in Siberia.

April and Gemini claim two class members, Donald Smith and Faulkner Cruzen. Donald will become a professional football hero and, had not the color of his hair been a drawback, would have excelled even Red Grange in popularity. His manager, Faulkner, will handle the financial side with great ability.

John Smull at North Yakima, Washington, and Alex Scott at What Cheer, Iowa, were born under the same sign, Cancer, in the same year, in the same month, on the same day, and at the same moment, namely on Labor Day, September 3, 1907, at 4:59 P.M. Distance separated them, but the stars decreed that they should be brought together at Rock Island High School. In 1941 we will find them joint founders of a Communistic Labor Society at Silvis.

The sign Leo has had its influence over Gerald Ash, born February 25, who will succeed the late Luther Burbank, and will become famous for his "Ash fruit," a cross between a strawberry and a grapefruit.

The children of Virgo, a January sign, have always accumulated a vast share of this world's wealth, and are born to speculate and win. Floyd O'Hern, under this sign, will make his millions by inventing "Spring-lae," a sure cure for Spring Fever. The greatest demand for this tonic will be among Boards of Education, who will administer it to the unsuspecting student in the food served at the school cafeterias.

The year 1908 finds many promising careers. The sign Libra of February indicates intensely serious minded persons. Being born on Groundhog's day, in Mian, Gladys Smith will find that she is endowed with the power to forecast weather conditions with absolute accuracy. Under the same sign, but three days later, Harold Wilheim was born. He will devote his entire time in searching for a rabbit's foot that will prove infallible.

The planet Uranus decrees energetic careers for Ruth Searle and Marion Gitt, born in March. The old historic Ferry will be ably operated by them. Indeed, by the year 1941, the boat will have gained such renown that it will be visited by people from all countries.

Most of Pisces' offspring are gifted with vast business acumen and mount wealth's ladder easily. Walter Criswell, born in April under this sign, will be proprietor of an extensive chain of barber shops encircling the globe. Ina Blair, Lucille Kinney, Ruth Sater, and Virginia Martin, born under the same sign, will be subordinates in this great business. Ina and Ruth, having the same birthday, will take charge of the Hair Dressing Department in the shops in Africa. Virginia and Lucille will be largely responsible for the success of the enterprise, as they will concoct a hair tonic which will cause the hair to grow at a rapid rate of speed.

Many pioneers in the great art movements spring from Capricorn, a sign of June, for they are ever searching for that which is distinctive, and are risking all for artistic experiment. Born under this sign June 25, Jane Sperry will be engaged as chief illustrator for Sears, Roebuck & Co. with Marie Hastings, born June 27, as her model. Elmer Huesing will be the lead guide and lecturer at the Chicago Art Institute. Faith Murray, under the same sign, will find herself employed as instructor in Medieval Art in the Cordova Community High School.

No people on earth are more inspired idealists and workers for good than those born under the Aquarius, a July sign. We will find Joseph Greer, Margaret Katterhoff, and Cecil Willets born under this sign, taking upon themselves the responsibility of revising the Dictionary. Although after ten years they will not have quite finished the A's, the patience and encouragement of Cecil will carry them successfully through to the end.

Practical work will be engaged in by those born in August, under the planet Mercury. Since there will no longer be such a thing as home cooking in 1944, we will find Julius Rudman manager of a large municipal cafeteria. Annetta Simon, of the same month, will have the responsible position of head cook, and Sylvia Bealer will operate the electric potato masher.

Clarity of thought and speech, sparkling wit and imagination, and the faculty for imparting knowledge are characteristics of the Sagittarius people of September. Bruce Collins will own and publish the Chicago Tribune. Donald McPike, as a member of the staff, will edit the "Bright Savings of Children." Evelyn Roberts will obtain fame as sport editor and critic, while Pearl Gates will succeed the cartoonist of "Gasoline Alley," still featuring the courtship of Auntie Blossom and Uncle Wat.

Successful nurses, directors of public morals, and eminent social service workers are numbered among the daughters of Jupiter. Elizabeth Tremaine, born October 2, will become a second Jane Adams. Her lecture on "Why Poverty Has Become Extinct" will be very famous. Inspired men and men having religious tendencies are the sons of Neptune of the same month. Gordon Davis, influenced by this sign, will become the fourth minister in the world renowned Little Church Around the Corner in New York City.

Robert Sigler, Bessie Rehdig, Elsie Halpern, and Loretta Quinn, born in December under the planet Saturn, will be endowed with the powers to analyze emotions, discover hidden meanings, and read character with great aptitude. These four persons we shall find working together in a great Detective Agency, and winning world renown.

On Friday, the thirteenth in November, influenced by the sign Leo, Harry Gersick was born. He would go down in glorious defeat rather than not dare great achievements. The building of a bridge across the Atlantic will be his goal.

An extravagance and delight in adventure characterizes those born under the planet Mars. This will influence the lives of Dorothy Livesey, born November 1, and Mary Lillian Starnes, November 30, who will become famous as the only feminine human flies in existence. One of their greatest achievements will be the scaling of the Leaning Tower of Pisa.

Persons born in the year 1909 will find themselves resorting to unusual occupations, as the sign Aries indicates a constant seeking for variety. John Krier, born on Saint Valentine's Day, is destined to solve heart problems. Although in 1941 women will be occupying the most responsible positions, Cynthia Grey will very unselfishly give her position to John.

That Eva Testin and Milton Stanford will work together can be clearly understood by the fact that they were born but one minute apart—Eva's birth occurring February 17 at midnight and Milton's, February 18 at 59 minutes before 1 A.M. These two we shall find busily engaged reclaiming the Sahara Desert.

Skill, coupled with the ingenuity, fits the hearts of Aquarius in the month of February to become wonderfully successful doctors and surgeons. Millicent Delbster and Mary Evelyn Carty are heirs of the sign. Doctors Delbster and Carty will be such skilful surgeons in face lifting that after performing an operation on Mary Pickford in 1944 she will star in "Alice in Wonderland."

Louise Bient, born under Taurus in north of March, will conduct the "Bent Tones" to foreign lands with her "Wild Cat" Zeppelin Fleet as the means of transportation.

One born under Scorpion in July cannot submissively serve, but does succeed in any project which he considers worth his brilliant attention. Foster Wright will make himself famous as director of "The Nightingales," a woman's chorus. Isaac Boxerman, the business manager, will be responsible for its success by planning extensive concert tours through Henry County. The most successful concert will be given in the open air theater at Coal Valley.

Literary attainments are predicted for those born in September under Taurus. Hence we shall find Ruth Pierce and Pearl Isenberg working on a volume which will be called "Why Caesar Crossed the Rubicon." The theory which they will advance is that in no other way could Caesar get to the opposite shore.

To be athletically inclined is predicted for those born in October under the planet Venus. Elizabeth Notstein will attain renown as the coach of the girls' Horseshoe Team at Rock Island High School. Horseshoe will be one of the most fashionable sports for women.

The hens of Capricorn can talk with brilliant dramatic effect and score their points when inspired, and they delight in delving into politics and bringing offenders to justice. Ben Esrick, born under this sign in April, will have great difficulty in running for Police Magistrate, being defeated eight consecutive times; however, if he will but take the advice of the stars, he will succeed at the thirteenth attempt.

The year 1910, the last with which we are concerned, characterizes its children with a natural genius, and a power to rule. The geniuses of Mayno Behn and Norma Young will do in their ability as criminal lawyers.

The more venturesome the enterprise, the keener its fascination for those under Leo. Born June 13, Ruth Olsson will be curator for the Smithsonian Institute. In 1911 we will find her amid the African jungles searching for the missing link.

The quality of the power to rule is manifested in Louis Greenblatt. He will hold one of the highest offices of the land, namely Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. The appointment was bestowed upon him as he was the only person to be found broad enough to fill the chair vacated by Taft.

I regret that there are many members of the class for whom I have given no portion of their horoscope due to the fact that the exact moment of birth was unobtainable at the time of the prognostication of these horoscopes. However, if at the conclusion of the program, any Senior can furnish me with the time of his birth within two and one-half minutes, I shall be glad to divine his destiny.

FAREWELL ADDRESS

JANE SPERRY

We seniors regard our graduation, in some respects, as the beginning rather than the end of our education, and even though we hope and expect to accomplish greater things after having attained this goal, still, each of us, I know, feels genuine regret at leaving Rock Island High School.

During our four years here we have, of course, hoped for and looked forward to this day as a really important event in our lives. Formerly, we have thought of it mostly as being rather far away, and not to be considered seriously, but now that the time is actually here, the last time we shall all be together in this assembly, we realize that it means a great deal. For after all, though some of us may have thought more than once that the "old grind" was scarcely worth while, our four years here have been pleasant ones. Although we have sat in here sometimes wondering what could be wrong that the passing bell did not ring, we have also, at here, enjoying good programs—listening to talks and seeing plays. We have made new friends, and have enjoyed participating in school activities. So we realize more seriously to-day what it means to us to be leaving High School.

As freshmen, we were as green as the rest, and we did our share of entertaining others at our own expense; as sophomores, we were used to the routine of school life; and as juniors, we considered ourselves quite learned. Now that we are seniors, and graduating, we realize that for whatever knowledge we may have acquired we owe to our teacher and principal a debt that we can scarcely repay in words. Sometimes we felt that our teachers were hard on us, and we were inclined to doubt their assurances that their assistance upon our application was for our own good. We can see now that we would not have progressed very rapidly without their guidance.

I wish then, in behalf of the class of 1926, to extend our sincere thanks to our teachers and principal, and to bid them and our fellow-students farewell. We wish all success to Rock Island High in everything she may undertake.

“MERTON OF THE MOVIES”

(SENIOR PLAY)

Hollywood was brought to Rock Island High School when the Senior Class Play, “Merton of the Movies,” was presented in the auditorium, May 13-14.

Gordon Davis was hilariously funny as Merton Gill; while Pearl J. Isenberg, as the Montague girl, peppy, slangy, and big hearted, was a most reliable staff on which the young aspirant leaned during the trying moments of his career.

The story is explained in Merton's attempt to carry out his idea of doing something bigger and finer.

The plot is revealed in a conversation between the Montague Girl and the Comedy King, Baird:

Baird: “Don't you see. He looks like Parmalee and he wants to do Parmalee's act. All right, put him on a Buveve comedy and let him kid the life out of Parmalee. Only don't tell him he's supposed to be funny.”

The keynote of the entire play was Merton's sincerity. He was really efficient in making over to the dummies in the dry goods store as to the leading lady. He is saved from being a tragic failure by the sympathy and good sense of Flips Montague.

Pictures in the making became a reality in the play, and atmosphere was created by Rosenblatt as director.

“Tears, tears, I want more tears.”

The cast, headed by Gordon Davis as Merton Gill and Pearl J. Isenberg as the Montague Girl, was as follows: Ann's G. Gachwiler, Paul John; Elmer Hoff, Harold Henniger, Lessie Kearns, Ruth Pierce; Casting Director, Elizabeth Tremann, Sigmund Rosenblatt, Louis Greenblatt; Weller, La Verre Bentzen, Camera men, James Saunders; Harold Parmalee, Paul Nelson; Beulah Baxter, Alice Kilpatrick, Marcel Mercer, Marie Hastings; Jed Baird, Donald McPike, Mrs. Patterson, Margaret Klattenhoff; Mr. Walberg, Edwin Liedtke.

Much of the credit for the success of the play goes to the coach, Miss Gurev; the business management, Harry Gersick and Harold Wilhelm; stage management, Alden Stanford, Edward Hall, John Smull, and property committee, Marlen Gitt, Annette Stetten, Loretta Quinn, Thomas Bollman, and Milton Stanford.

THE JUNIOR CLASS

The Junior Class was unusually successful this year due to the able leadership of Elbert Hollingsworth, president, James Caffie, vice president; and Sarah Ferguson, secretary. It can rightly become the leader of the school.

One of the shining stars was Solmie Edstrom, who won the gold medal as a reward for winning first place in the Boys' Big Nine Declamatory contest. He also represented Rock Island in debate. As Business Manager of the Watch Tower and member of the Annual Staff '26 he has also won great honor.

Doris Lackin, Elizabeth Rouse, and F. Jelle Lead claimed places on the girls' declamation team. Alexander Fox was the one junior chosen for the boys' team.

The Annual Staff boasts a junior, Margaret Hynes, as art editor, besides Raymond Porter and Dorothy Dockerman. Three juniors, "Bad" Wilson, Stephen Coons, and Henry Zehren, besides Solmie, graced the Watch Tower board. Henry Zehren and Donald Martin were part of the business management.

The class play "Grumpy," given March 27, was one of the most successful of its kind ever presented in R. I. H. S. The hero, Richard Welch, was also a member of the Dramatic Department play cast.

In athletics, too, the Junior class scored high. Elbert Hollingsworth, "Holly," and "Hank" Thomas were both given membership cards to the National Athletic Scholarship Society of Secondary Schools. Besides "Holly" and "Hank," athletics claimed Don Costigan, Cal Wulffe, William McCauley, Carl Manglesdorf, Carl Scannell, and Stanley Fuller.

The last and foremost club of the school is the Junior English Council. Its officers are Francis Carter, president; Isabelle Loar, vice president; Jane Sperry, secretary; Paul Van Hecke, treasurer. Composed of five separate organizations, this club is made up of debaters, poets, actors, short story writers, and the Alphas, who will in time become the leaders of the following clubs.

The Dramatic Department, under the leadership of Miss Schmidt and Miss Carley, sponsors, John Krier, chairman, Alex Scott, vice chairman, and Melvin Gitt, secretary-treasurer, has enjoyed a year of outstanding achievement. The members have produced five one-act plays and one three-act play, the latter "The Big Idea," setting a new standard for both artistic and financial success. The department has approximately one hundred enthusiastic and faithful members, all of whom are juniors and seniors. Due to the splendid cooperation of all, the department has been able to buy about $100 of miscellaneous equipment this year.

Under the leadership of Mr. Startz and Mr. Hanson, the oldest organization in the school, namely, the Caeronian, has become one of the foremost clubs of the school. Last year many debates were held, namely, on Bobbed Hair, World Court, and Aviation. One notable thing is that all members of the Debate and Extempore teams are Caeronians. Their officers are: Israel Boxerman, chairman; Louis Greenblatt, vice chairman; Lois Briggs, secretary; Dorothy Livesey, treasurer.

The Short Story Department, whose purpose is to increase appreciation of the short story and to encourage any talent for writing, has progressed greatly under the leadership of Miss Lataway. Early in the year they studied the technique of the short story and also studied Pitkin's "How to Write Stories." The officers are: Norma Young, president; Edna Schroether, vice president, and Gwendolen Brandt, secretary.

During the past year, under the leadership of Mrs. Ferguson, an especial study of free verse and modern poets was made by this department. It also read the "Twelfth Night" by Shakespeare and studied the "Glean." The year was brought to a perfect close by a marvellous picnic held at Watch Tower. The Poetry Department has only two officers: Gwendolen Brandt, president; Francis Carter, secretary-treasurer.

The purpose of the Alphas is to "promote cooperation between organizations and the school." Two plays which aroused great interest were "Tom Piper and His Pig" and "Hans and Gretel." Their officers are: Miss Eninger, sponsor; Dorothy Dunn, chairman; Eleanor Field, vice chairman; Dorothy Grant, secretary-treasurer; Kenneth Davis, sergeant at arms.

GIRLS' HI-Y

GIRLS' HI-Y

Here they are! You won't need a "Who's Who" or any other information-giving book to know who they are. Although the Hi-Y girls have been a flourishing organization during past years, no words can describe the progress made since 1925.

This year "Date Nite" especially was a success. Over 125 girls attended and enjoyed the fun. The "Mother and Daughter" banquet was also a great success. By means of selling candy and having booths at plays and trunks, the treasury has increased to over $105. Hi-Y has become a success largely through the effort of Miss Beebe and the officers, who are: Elizabeth Tremann, president; Ina Blair, vice president; Ruth Collin, secretary; Eva K. Olstrand, treasurer; Marie Hastings, song leader.

The Cabinet consists of: Miss Beebe, sponsor; Ina Blair, membership; Marian Gitt, program; Mary Evelyn Canty, pep; Mildred Nelson, social; and Elinor Huesing, program.

This is, however, only half of the great "click." The other half is "like unto it." This is the sophomore division, composed of the freshman and sophomore girls. With the aid of Miss Beebe, the younger girls have succeeded in making their club a duplicate of the older part of the Girls' Hi-Y. Its officers are: Lucille Gitt, president; Grace Darling, vice president; Katherine Ward, secretary; Inez Kester, treasurer.

This year the annual conference will be held at Saugatuck, Michigan, July 2-12. Three delegates from the Hi-Y will be sent to this conference to determine plans for the following year.

BOYS' HI-Y

When thinking over the list of activities of the Boys' Hi-Y for the past year, one wonders how the club could boast of a better year this year. Someone said, "The truth will out," so here are the facts.

The annual Football Banquet with Gordon Locke, of Iowa, as the principal speaker, was an unqualified success.

Dessel Wilson, a member of the club, added pep to the Frolic.

The Hi-Y was represented by four members at the Older Boys' Conference held at Urbana this year.

The Hi-Y mixer was the last word in fun.

Prominent men to speak to the club were: Secretary of the Boys' Hi-Y, Freeman; Coach Swanson of Augustana; and "Rube" Norling, Angie basketball captain.

Officers for the year were: Carl Bliesner, president; Richard Welch, vice president; Julius Cahill, secretary; Harold Thoms, treasurer.

LA SOCIETE FRANCAISE

La Societe Francaise has just completed its third year, and anyone having any doubt as to the success of the club, would do well to review the activities of the past year.

Several French dinners were given at the Y. W. C. A., and since it is the object of the club to promote the study of French, all of the conversation was in that language.

"Moonlight in Paris," the sideshow of the French Club, was a very clever sketch, adding its share to the Frolic fun.

Miss Caloine, sponsor of the club, has introduced a novel way of bringing French into play. Correspondence is carried on with students in all parts of France. Letters from France are received here with interest, and several of the members have three or four French addresses on their correspondence list.

Officers for the past year were Loretta Quinn, president; Pearl Isenberg, vice president; Jane Sperry, secretary and treasurer.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

"Women are the beginning of all great things." Very true, don't you think, especially with such striking examples before you as the Home Economics Club? Since the fall of 1925, when it was first organized, the club has prospered until it has become one of the leading organizations of the school.

One event which attracted considerable attention was a style show presented by the club members. Not only the high school girls were invited to be present, but also the ninth grade girls.

The part which they had in the Frolic this year will never be forgotten. The different types of dresses were portrayed very vividly.

Mildred Lamp, president; Leona Peterson, secretary-treasurer, Miss Babcock and Miss Welch, sponsors.

Although the 1925 Crimson and Gold squad was one of the lightest teams in the history of our school, it was also one of the last teams carried out by a Rock Island High School grid mentor, as their record of seven victories, one tie, and two defeats show.

With fighting spirits aroused, the Crimson and Gold football squad, led by the veteran Captain Laetke, mowed down their heavier opponents from the start of the season to the finish. Rock Falls fell first before the Islanders, while at La Salle-Peora an unlucky tumble cost the Islanders their second game. Ottawa, Gaesburg, and Sterling were next taken into camp, and then came the heroic struggle with the mighty Peoria team, that ended in a scoreless tie. This was followed by a win over Kewanee.

On Armistice Day, Davenport severely punished the over-confident Islanders, and with the sting of this defeat, Coach Bennamann's pigskin chasers came back and after trouncing Geneseo, defeated our bitterest rival, Moline, 12 to 0.

At the close of the season, W. Wright, halfback, was elected captain of the 1926 squad.

BASKETBALL

The City Champs! Again, after a long absence, a tri-city basketball championship crown rested securely upon the heads of the Crimson and Gold cagers. Starting the season with three veterans, the 1926 basketball team went through their schedule with a winning stride, defeating Moline twice and Davenport once. Then, when all things looked bright for a district championship, Dame Fortune's broad smile turned to a frown, and Moline was the victor by a one point margin gained in the last few seconds of play.

The record of twelve victories out of nineteen games speaks well for the 1926 Islander team. With the all star Captain Wilhelm at the "helm," Coach Behnamann's boys routed Moline, East Moline, and Geneseo twice, La Salle Peru, Galesburg, and Davenport were defeated once each, while Davenport, Galesburg, Savanna, and Cambridge took the measure of the Crimson and Gold gallants by narrow margins.

Captain Wilhelm, Hollingsworth, Criswell, Smith, Small, Caldwell, Turner, and Young were awarded letters at the end of the 1926 season. Captain Wilhelm, Small, and Criswell were given berths on both the mythical all star team and the district tournament teams.

TRACK AND CROSS COUNTRY

Big Nine Champions again! For the third time in the last four years the Big Nine smel has been won by a Rock Island High School track team coached by Mr. Kimme. In the Big Nine event, "Hank" Thomas amassed fifteen points and proved himself to be a versatile under path artist.

At a dual meet with Moline held soon after training had been started, Rock Island was defeated by a few points. In the next meet, the Islanders walked over the Alledo squad to an easy victory. Then came the Big Nine meet where Rock Island again proved her strength.

These meets were followed by a dual meet with the Davenport track team, and Rock Island brought home another silver cup to add to her long string of trophies. In the Dixon sectional meet and at the state meet at Urbana, the Crimson and Gold thinly clad again showed themselves to be strong contenders.

Cross-country running took off to a very successful start. Moline was twice met and twice defeated. At the Iowa University Invitational meet, Rock Island placed fifth among all schools entered and first in the Illinois division.

Captain Colehour and Carl Strate were awarded letters.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

On Friday night, March 26, the Junior Class presented "Grumpy," one of the most successful plays in the history of the class, dramatically and financially. It was presented to an appreciative audience with the high school auditorium filled to its capacity. The play was a combination of mystery, love, and comedy. Miss Gailey again demonstrated her ability as a coach.

The plot centers around a large diamond which is being taken to London by the hero, Ernest Heron. It is interrupted in its journey by the villain, Mr. Jarvis, who takes forceful possession of it in a thrilling fight in the dark. The hero, not knowing who has the diamond, tries to solve the mystery, but is completely baffled. It is finally solved by "Grumpy," a retired criminal lawyer, to whom Ernest Heron had come for aid, by the clue of a faded flower tied with a hair.

The title role of "Grumpy," the cross, old criminal lawyer, was handled with excellent characterization by Harold Thoms. The love story of the play was kept prominent by the heroine, Lucille York, a niece of Grumpy's, and Ernest Heron, Richard Welch, the hero. Boyd McIntyre played the part of the villain, Mr. Jarvis, who stole the diamond and at the same time sought to gain the favor of the heroine, Lucille York. An excellent bit of character acting was given by Mido Dockerman, as Rud-dock, man-servant of Grumpy.

The main characters were well supported by the rest of the cast, which included Dorris Larken as Mrs. McLaren; Don Skinner as Mr. McLaren; Lowell Dunavin, playing Koble; Eva Alexenberg, Susan; Junius Califf, Merridew; and Sollie Feldbein, Valentine Wolfe.

The sophomores drew the prize party date in getting October 30. A ghost walk, for the telling booth, and spiritualist meetings were no small part of the evening's fun, and, of course, there was dancing for those who cared to dance.

The proper atmosphere was certainly obtained by the decorations of cornstalks, pumpkins, witches, black cats, and orange and black crepe paper, and any member of the decoration committee who returned out into the suburbs trying to get cornstalks, can tell you how much they should have been appreciated.

Refreshments were served, and the sophs being, after all, still children, the party was over at 10:30.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PARTY

Friday evening, November 14, was the festive evening for juniors and seniors, and it was a big affair in no way less than one. This was the first time the two classes had combined for a party other than the Reception and it was considered a huge success.

Harold Thern's orchestra supplied music for dancing, which, until later in the evening, was interrupted only by frequent trips to the punch-board.

Meredith Smith surprised everyone by his appearance as a French professor, who performed magic with great skill. With great ease, for instance, he changed Pearl Dachtelheim, 181 lbs. of increased stature, into Helen Jones, and a meat-grinder was the secret of it all.

After a short intermission everyone gravitated toward the kitchen if that means anything to you, and as usual, were loath to leave when "Home, Sweet Home" was played.

THE FROLIC

The Frolic, held February 12, was highly successful in every way, including the financial side also. Entertainment during the first part of the evening was furnished by the various organizations holding forth in side shows. The Girls' Glee Club again presented a minstrel show; the Home Economics Club, a mock wedding; the French Club, a pretty scene called "Au Clair de la Lune"; Girls' Hi-Y illustrated advertisements, calling it the "Friday Evening Post"; Boys' Hi-Y had a musical act; Ciceroan presented a boxing match; the Dramatic Club had a candy booth and a telegraph station; and the Junior English Council, a hit-the-doll target booth, and a "circus."

About 9:15, everyone adjourned to the Assembly for the main show, which consisted of four parts. The Dramatic Club offered a play, "Miss Civilization." Hoskins and Moore, colored Charleston dancers, were very enthusiastically received, as were Jerry Miller and Edward Thorsen, clever clarinetists with the Augustana Band. The Boys' Glee Club sang several popular numbers, with solo choruses, and rather surprised the school with their ability.

OLD CLOTHES DAY

Old Clothes Day was interpreted this year, by the fair sex at least, in a little different way than ever before. The boys, as usual, dressed out in old blue shirts, ancient bandannas, and heavy socks, even deigning to leave at home for the day their wide trousers.

Almost all the girls looked upon the day as a time for old-fashioned costumes, rummaging in old trunks for long-forgotten gowns with wasp-waists, and long voluminous skirts.

The day was carried through with much hilarity and with high spirits, but did not seriously interrupt class work.

SOPHOMORE PARTY

Pop and hilarity characterized the sophomore's spring party, held Friday, April 30. The Manual Arts ball-room was prettily decorated with crepe paper and the usual balloons for the stronger ('') sex to amuse their fair friends by breaking.

Much amusement was afforded by a "track meet," held during intermission in dancing. All who cared to participate were divided into five different groups, each representing a college. Each college then selected a yell leader who led them in parodies on famous cheers. Prizes were given for throwing the snipe (in this case a paper bag containing air) and the field events.

No party is complete, of course, without the usual refreshments of ice-cream and cake, and this one was no exception.

JUNIOR-SENIOR RECEPTION

The Grand Finale of the social events of the year was the Junior-Senior Reception on May 28. The ball-room was elaborately decorated in the senior class colors, silver and rose. One stepped through the door of the ball room into an ideal rose garden. There were roses climbing over trellises and rose garlands covering the ceilings and draping the walls. In one corner of the room under a bower of roses, punch was served throughout the evening.

Corsages were given to the girls and button-hole bouquets to the boys. Pettit's orchestra furnished music for the dancing. The feature of the evening was a grand march to "Moonlight and Roses" played by the orchestra and sung by all under the direction of Miss Vogelbaugh. Unusually appropriate gifts were presented to the seniors. The refreshments served were cake and vanilla ice cream with the number 26 in rose.

THE BULLETIN OF UPPERCRUST "U"

Vol. I No. 1

JUNE 1926

NEW YORK CITY

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

Situation

Uppercrust University is located within an hour's ride of Greenwich Village, the theater district, and all the smartest night clubs of New York City. The excellent asphalt road leading straight into Broadway, is lined on both sides by some of the largest and finest billboards in the country.

BUILDINGS AND EQUIPMENT

The buildings about the campus are the dormitories, library, laboratories, art museum, gymnasium, those areas containing the lounges, (commonly called class-rooms), and the administrative offices.

We can say very little concerning the library, because no one has been in it for so many years. The faculty is considering remodeling the building and using it as a dance-hall.

The dormitories are large and handsomely furnished. Each suite is composed of four rooms and bath. Victrolas are furnished to each student. Elevator and bell-boy service at all hours.

The laboratories and classrooms are used chiefly as places of recuperation, although a few students are to be found studying in them, now and then. These are quite harmless, and will do no violence, if left unmolested.

The art museum is said to contain the finest collection of bathing beauties and French post-cards to be found in the United States.

By far the largest and most important building on the Campus is the Gymnasium, covering several acres of land, and housing indoor athletic fields, swimming pools, and everything any other university has and more too.

The administrative buildings contain the offices of the President and of the heads of the departments. The professors, as a rule, can be found in their offices when classes are not in session, although they frequently divide their time between jail and the hospital.

ADMISSION

All students possessing athletic letters, will be admitted without examination, as will those whose fathers are known to possess considerable "pull." Other students will be required to take the regular examinations for entrance. These examinations, required by the state, will be given in the main assembly room, October 4, at nine o'clock. They must be completed by noon, after which time the papers will be deposited in the wastebasket, and the Faculty will adjourn to the country club. All students who have registered will be notified that they are accepted, and that dear, sweet, good old Uppercrust welcomes them with open arms, and looks forward to making fine upright men or women of them. The last, of course, should not be taken to heart. It simply sounds nice when Uppercrust is written up in "The American," or any of the excellent publications with which we are so bounteously blessed.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

For the sake of appearances, Uppercrust University keeps a regular faculty on hand. A number of old fashioned students prefer to study while in college, and to thus earn their degrees, but to the average young man or woman, studies mean little or nothing in relation to a degree. The degree

Artim Baccalaurei is awarded to all persons making outstanding athletic records. Those students receiving at least two letters graduate "magna cum laude."

Of course, not all the students can distinguish themselves in athletics, and as a result, we have originated our famous purchase plan. Our prices are as follows:

Artium Baccalaurei	.$300
(Magna cum laude, $100 extra)
Scientae Baccalaurei	$300
(Magna cum laude, $100 extra)

To obtain these degrees, the student must pass away four years at Upper crust. The degree Artium Magistri is awarded to students who stay for one extra year at Upper crust, and pay $500. The rule requiring that you spend this time in residence is not of our making, but of the State which granted us our charter, so do not put the blame on Upper crust.

We can furnish you with almost any degree, providing you have the cash. Politicians, etc., should get our prices on quantity lots.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION

Limited space prevents our mentioning all the courses offered at Upper crust, but we do give those which we believe will be of greatest interest to the average student.

ELECTRICITY

This course is especially helpful to those students who wish to know how to wire their homes for money.

MINING.

In our mining course, we dwell at great length upon the subject of gold mining. We especially recommend this course for the young ladies.

ADVANCED ARITHMETIC.

This course is always popular with the young men, as it gives them such an excellent knowledge of figures. Classes are held every night in one of the down-town music halls. The project method is employed.

LITERATURE

Why should you be tongue-tied in a crowd? Take our course in literature and know all the latest, racy stories. We take up all types. This course also includes a monthly review of the leading "confession" magazines.

FRENCH.

Our French course makes it possible to decipher all the menu cards of our best cafes, and also the French quotations which constantly appear in "The Saturday Evening Post" and the books of etiquette.

ANCIENT HISTORY.

This course includes answers to the following questions: "What's the younger generations coming to?" "What's got into the children nowadays?"

The text book is that famous bit of literature entitled "Why, When I Was a Girl...." by the eminent wet "couverture de lit," Ima Nold Granny.

EXPENSES

Upper crust "U" prides itself on the reasonable standard it has set for the expense of those who enter this institution. The necessary costs have not only been reduced in so far as advisable to provide a large enrollment, but also have been kept high enough to keep this University among the better ones of the country.

EXPENSE FOR MEN.

Tuition is determined by the recognized athletic prowess of the beginning student. If he comes from a preparatory school with a noteworthy record in any branch of athletics, no tuition is necessary; that is, he is paid to enter rather than having to pay. To those with no athletic experience, however, a tuition of five hundred dollars ($500) per semester is charged, until sufficient merit in sports is manifested.

As a rule the University men live in the "frat" houses. Here the cost of room and board per week is one hundred dollars ($100).

This does not, of course, include the incidental expenses of the house. If a young man does not join a fraternity, he may find reasonable lodgings in a reputable home for fifty dollars ($50) a week.

Upon entering college, it is necessary for the young men to submit their wardrobes to a rigid inspection. Should there be a young man so ignorant of school as to come without "plus-fours," a coon coat, long pipeds, and vari-colored sweaters, he must either purchase these articles or return home.

Social expenses are, to some extent, a matter of individual opinion. We do not require attendance at the daily dances sponsored by this institution, but we do warn those who enter against studying to the extent of excluding social duties and privileges. From two to five dances a week are considered a reasonable number for the socially prominent to attend. The average cost of an evening spent at one of these affairs is twenty dollars ($20), and this includes taxi-fare, flowers for the fair maiden, and the fee for dancing.

EXPENSES FOR WOMEN

As the young ladies, of course, do not enter college on the same athletic standing as the men, their tuition fee is set as five hundred dollars ($500). This sum is halved upon arrival, however, if the applicant for admission is beautiful enough to interest the young men at this University.

Most of the young ladies, who are fortunate enough to join sororities, live in the houses provided by these institutions. The price per week for room and board in these sorority houses is seventy-five dollars ($75) a week if the girls do their own bedroom work. Many of the girls, however, find their social engagements so pressing that they are willing to pay the twenty-five dollars ($25) extra for maid service.

We are sure that the young women contemplating coming to this University understand that their wardrobes must be fitted to the college environment. Fur coats, silk dresses, bright slickers, chic chapeaux, and chiffon hose are all essential articles. We suggest, too, that the young ladies set aside ten dollars ($10) a week for beauty accessories and beauty shop work, as shampoos, marcells, and manicores are highly essential to the fair sex to-day.

PUBLICATIONS

As students often expend too much valuable time and energy on literary venture of no importance, we do not encourage any student publications. We take this stand on this matter because of the fact that, in the past, it has been shown how some students have developed the journalistic sides to their natures until they have been able to find no enjoyment in the more essential social affairs offered in our colleges. With this idea in mind, therefore, we have established the precedent of guiding our students from the paths of diligent endeavor into the flower-scented trails which broaden and enrich the aesthetic side of humans.

Feeling that it is necessary to inform our vast student-body of the affairs of the college, however, we do issue one weekly bulletin, the "Sport, Society Review." This 20 page publication divides its attention between the sport activities and the social affairs of our young people. We have hired a staff of three professors to edit this newspaper, and thus relieve our students of this unnecessary labor.

SOCIETY

Uppercrust University believes implicitly in the propagation of social contact. To this end, we encourage every and all organizations tending to accomplish this end. In fact, we pride ourselves in the number and quality of our social organizations.

Fraternities and sororities are, of course, the nucleus of college life. Space does not permit a list of these chapters in our school, but, suffice it to say, that every national fraternity and sorority is here represented. Students who desire to gain admittance into one of these societies should guard himself from becoming a

"grind" or even unusually proficient in any line of endeavor as the Greek Groups bar this type of kill-joy from their midst.

The Stage and Screen Club plays an important part in school affairs. It is the aim of this organization to promote a study of the theater and screen with as little endeavor as possible. With this objective the club meets regularly, once a week, to study their project at the best play or movie in the city.

The Fine Arts Club is open only to Seniors in the University, and is one of the most popular of all organizations. This group meets three times a month and studies, consecutively, music, futurist art, and aesthetic dancing. The music department of this club has formed for the expression of its art, a twenty-piece orchestra which confines itself to that finest of all music—the modern syncopation. The names of the other two departments are self-explanatory.

ATHLETICSHIPS

The Upper crust University guarantees to any young man earning his letter for four consecutive years in either football or baseball a position on one of the many professional teams in the country. We also secure places on Olympic teams for the students who show aptitude along special athletic lines.

The Frantic Five Thousand comprise the cheering unit of this University. Every week this group assembles in the Auditorium under the leadership of Professor Hulla-Balloo and studies the art of cheering. Then, at athletic contests, this group assembles in full force and cheers our men to victory.

In season, Upper crust encourages all sport clubs such as tennis, hockey, skating, skiing and others of like nature.

ORGANIZATIONS

Believing as we do, that the institutions of society are most vital to the young students, Upper crust University, in its organizations, offers to all an opportunity to broaden their lives by social contact with others.

Fraternities and sororities are, of course, main factors in the social life of this college. All of the large national associations of this nature have a chapter at Upper crust U. If one is not a "grind" and if he shows sufficient interest in college activities, he is certain to be taken into one of these associations.

The Stage and Screen Club, as its name implies, concentrates its attention upon the legitimate theater and the moving picture. This club reserves a section each week at the theater or movie house in order that its members may here study dramatic principles in motion. Once a year, a play is produced by this group, and so excellent is the grade of work manifested that often several young ladies (and not infrequently young men) step from the portals of Upper crust U. into paying positions on the stage of the screen world.

The Aesthetic Dancing Club also holds a prominent place in the school activities. This is an essentially Senior group, however, since only those who have studied artistry in dancing may belong to this club.

The Frantic Five Thousand is the cheering organization of this college. They attend every athletic meet and lead the cheering for the crowds there assembled. All loyal students will, of course, join this group, which meets every Wednesday afternoon in the auditorium with Professor Hulla-Balloo, instructor in the art of yelling.

Of course, Upper crust encourages, in season, other organizations such as the Tennis Club, the Yachting and Fishing Circles, and the Skating and Hockey Associations.

SCORE FOR FATHER

Daughter had just returned from finishing school. "That air," her father began as they sat down in the dining-room.

"Father, dear," the girl interrupted, "you should say 'that something,' or, preferably, just 'that.' It's vulgar to say 'that air.'"

CONSOLATION FOR THE SIMPLE

A new story is told about Bishop Henry C. Potter. It seems that a lay reader had been complaining to the Bishop that he and his fellows were nowhere recognized in the Prayer Book. There were references to bishops, priests, and deacons, but never an allusion to lay readers. "Why, of course there is," said the Bishop. "Don't you remember that verse in the Benedicite, 'O all ye green things upon the earth, bless ye the Lord'?"

DODGING THE CONDUCTOR

Little Jackie took the church collection very seriously, and every Sunday morning he saw that his penny was ready.

One day just as the usher began to take the collection, Jackie noticed that a guest in the family pew was not duly provided. Sliding along the seat he whispered, "Where's your penny?"

"I didn't bring one," replied the woman.

Time was short, and the matter was urgent, but Jackie came to a decision with great promptitude. Thrusting his penny into the woman's hand, he whispered: "Here, take mine! It'll pay for you, and I'll get under the seat."—Pittsburgh Sun.

How a Blacksmith Made the Plow that Conquered a Wilderness

Put yourself for awhile in the place of John Deere, young blacksmith, giant in stature and strength, owner of a little blacksmith shop in the little frontier village of Grand Detour, Illinois, in the year 1837.

Around you stretching in every direction are illimitable prairies and muck-lands, black of soil that extends down nearly as far as a man can dig in a day. Rank vegetation covers the land, growing on hot July days so fast that you seem to see and hear the growth.

Around you, too, are scattering farmers—hardy pioneers, among the first to press westward from New England and the Middle Atlantic states—who have stopped here attracted by the promise of this land of wonderful fertility.

But there is gloom in the community. There is talk of resuming migration westward in search of a different soil, or of return towards the land from whence you and the farmers came. For the rich, black, gluey soil rebuffs every type of plow in use. The farmers are unable to put in crops.

There are frequent consultations in your little shop. The farmers know that you are a good blacksmith, and they look to you for a solution of the problem.

You tinker skilfully with the plows that they bring in—plows of wood with iron-tipped shares and iron-patched moldboards. They are the best plows the world has yet developed; they were serviceable in the light soils back home in the East; but here in this wonderful new land of locked soil-treasure, they fail in spite of all that you can do with them. Experiment follows experiment in your little shop; but still the problem remains unsolved.

Then one day a new idea develops in your mind, telling you that the necessary plow must have a steel moldboard and share, with the moldboard curved in such a way that it will scour itself as it works in the gluey soil.

No plow of the kind your imagination sees has ever been built. You have no pattern to follow. Painstakingly you carve a pattern on a log, carefully fashioning the curve that means everything.

Then, since you have no other steel, you cut a piece from an old mill-saw blade, dimension it exactly to fit your purpose, place it over the pattern and carefully hammer it with a wooden mallet until it fits the pattern lines.

Your plow bottom is done—the first of its kind ever built.

You bolt your creation to a frame that you have fashioned from white oak rails, shoulder the assembled plow and go to a nearby farm for a demonstration.

A crowd of farmers look on—some cynical, some hopeful—while you hitch a horse to the plow. You make a few final adjustments, cluck to the horse, lift up on the handles of the plow, and then, while the horse plods on and the farmers gasp, the thing which you have created voices a low, continuous whisper as the black, gluey furrow-slice turns clean and true from its moldboard. Your plow has solved the problem.

• • • • •

It was thus that John Deere planned, built and demonstrated the world's first successful steel plow, launched his long career as the master maker of farm implements, and unlocked the treasure-hold of the world's greatest agricultural region.

The hungry world is turning landward. The plow-maker is coming into his own. And the world gives special credit to the sturdy blacksmith who evolved a new plow that conquered a wilderness and inaugurated a full line of John Deere implements that leads in the work of producing food for the world.

THE AWAKENING

The charge was one of premeditated murder; the defendant a college student. The entire courtroom turned anxious and tear-stained eyes toward the lad, and a breathless suspense followed the judge's question of "Guilty or not guilty?" The youth was prodded to respond. He opened his eyes, yawned, shook himself, stretched his arms and legs for fully five minutes, and then drawled, "Not prepared to recite."

REAL ESTATE SECTION

Peter James Smith, the accomplished realtor, smiled benevolently at the little blonde thing beside him, and stroked the sleeve of the soft, seal-skin coat she was wearing.

"Heh, heh," chuckled P. J., "little beauty, isn't it?"

"It's stunning!" replied the gal, her soft eyes smiling into his. "It's adorable."

"Looks good on you," commented Mr. Smith. "Never saw a sweeter one, if I do say so."

"There aren't any," asserted the gal. "It's genuine seal-skin from top to bottom."

"Heh, heh," said the eminent realtor. "I don't mind spendin' money, kid, for the right kind of stuff, don't forget that."

"What do you suppose your wife will say when she finds out about it?"

Peter James Smith winked significantly.

"She won't find it out—for a while," he replied. "Leave it to little old P. J. to keep a secret."

"But what will she say when she does find it out?"

"Heh," replied Smith, "the old gal'll just about pass out, I suppose. No tellin' what she'll say. I never had experience with her on this kind of stuff."

"You're adorable!" exclaimed the blonde girl.

"Why, I—"

"By the way," interrupted the girl, "shall we send it right out to you, or do you want us to keep it here at the store until her birthday?"
